

Bobbex-R comes in various sizes, from a ready-to-use sprayer for small gardens to a large pail of concentrate.

GARDEN VARIETY: A STAY-AWAY SPRAY

The challenge: Rabbits, chipmunks, squirrels and voles are devastating your garden.

The solution: Spray plants with Bobbex-R, labeled to repel all of these animals through both odor and taste with naturally occurring ingredients such as meat meal, fish oil, putrescent eggs and garlic. To repel voles, also spray small ground holes and tunnels.

Pluses: In tests, Bobbex lasted through multiple rainstorms and normal irrigation, and was effective in all seasons. Environmentally friendly, it poses no threat to people, pets, wildlife or fish. Unlike some repellents, Bobbex has no odor that is objectionable to humans. A stronger formula of the original Bobbex repellent for deer, Bobbex-R, is ideal for use where deer as well as smaller herbivores are a threat to your garden. You can also use it as a dip for bulbs before planting. The product can be used to protect most vegetable plants as well as ornamentals.

Minuses: The "sticker" that makes Bobbex long-lasting also makes the product difficult to wash from leafy vegetables like lettuce, herbs and fruits. Like any repellent, Bobbex must be reapplied often enough to protect new growth of plants.

Sources: For more information or help finding a retail source, see www.bobbex.com, or call Bobbex at (800) 792-4449.